Introduction

This resource guide was put together with contributions from Rupert Jannasch, Charlotte Harper, Allison Grant, Shonda Babineau, Joyce Kelly, Andrew Giberson, Josh Oulton, Susan MacKinnon, Claude Berthélemé and other ACORN members. If you have other good resources for us to add in a future edition, please email roxanne@acornorganic.org.

We have compiled this list of useful suppliers for the information purposes of organic growers in the Maritimes. This directory highlights local sources, while including relevant information about certain international suppliers. While ACORN does not endorse any suppliers, organic farmers suggested many of the companies listed. The Trade Show at ACORN's annual conference is another place to find great regional suppliers. Atlantic Canadian suppliers are listed first, followed by suppliers from other parts of Canada and the US. This list is meant to be a living document; we invite organic growers to submit their suggested additions.

What is ACORN?

ACORN is the Atlantic Canadian Organic Regional Network, a not-for-profit co-operative that aims to enhance the viability and growth of the organic community through a unified regional network.

Since 2000, ACORN has been the key organization for information on organic agriculture, eating organics, and connecting all the parts together. From seed to farmer to consumer, ACORN works to bring the whole picture together - making food choices healthier and more environmentally responsible.

ACORN Conference

ACORN hosts the largest annual organic conference of its kind in Eastern Canada with up to 500 participants, 40(+) workshops, and dozens of trade show exhibitors. Check out the ACORN website for further information about our upcoming organic conference: <http://acornorganic.org/conference.html>.

ACORN's website features

A searchable organic directory - Find all your local organic food needs!

Benefits of Certification - Read up on why certification is a smart choice for your farm

Classified Ads - Looking for farm equipment, seed sources, job opportunities and more?

ACORN Multimedia - Webinars, Speakers' Series short films and more! Connect to us on Facebook (facebook.com/acornorganic) and Twitter (@acornorganic)

Organic Transition Specialist

ACORN offers a free support service for those interested in transitioning to organic agriculture. Our Organic Transition Specialist can help you set up your farm for organic production, answer your transition questions and even support you through the organic paperwork. Call Roxanne Beavers at (902) 843-2318 or email roxanne@acornorganic.org.

General Farm Supplies

In your own community or nearby, there is likely a farm supply store. Supporting these stores keeps rural communities alive and increases availability of supplies for local farms. The following suppliers carry a broad range of farm and livestock products, but before looking elsewhere, it's worth it to check if your local store can order in what you need.

Beneficial Insects, Bees and Biologicals

Beneficial insects are available from a number of suppliers across Canada, but the quality of products and service, as well as shipping costs, can vary considerably. Some products are also intended for the retail and home garden market and can be cost prohibitive for a commercial grower. Choose suppliers based on the quality of technical support and customer service.

Equipment – Large & Small

This includes new and used tractors, attachments, and smaller walking tractors/rototillers. There are many tractor dealerships and equipment suppliers across the Maritimes but the listed companies have been suggested as helpful to organic growers. While suppliers from other regions may have better deals or unique equipment, consider developing a relationship with a local dealer to get the best service.
